

RPNGC Code of Ethics

We have a duty to our country and to our Police Service to serve the community by protecting life and property, preserving the peace and detecting and apprehending the offenders.

We will carry out our duties with integrity, and honesty and will at all times make every effort to respect the rights of all people in the community, regardless of colour, social status or religion.

We will enforce the law justly, without fear, favour, malice or ill will. It is incumbent upon us to keep confidential matters of such a nature that we may learn in our official capacity, unless revelation is necessary for the administration of

ROYAL JUSTICE. NEW GUINEA

By our conduct and performance, we will give high priority to enhancing the reputation of our profession.

CONSTABULARY

We will practice self-discipline and restraint and will strive to improve our knowledge of the law and contemporary police practice applicable to the community.

We will accept these ethics as an integral part of our personal and professional life.